

Our Projects

The project M, a residential building in the centre of Meran, is embedded in the quiet area of Obermais. The concept of the design was it to play with transparent

Set in a landscape of vineyards and wooded areas, in the heart of Monferrato, the eco-hotel comprises a village of four independent wood and glass cabins

This house represents our successful attempt at building a "non-traditional" home sustainably. A home built on the border between Italy and Switzerland, but

Appraisal

Architecture and building design is complicated work, that's why before any work is done we will provide an appraisal on the development. If we find that your planned work can go ahead we'll advise and help you get the needed approval. As part of the appraisal we will also be able to give you an estimate on the time frame and costs

Consultation

Our professional consultation service includes a building survey and we'll be able to outline all the options you have available to you.

Planning application

So many great projects can be prevented because of a failure to achieve planning permission. But, we can help you achieve permission and will act on your behalf, with our experienced team on the case you could achieve planning permission even if you've failed in the past.

Building regulation and solid surfaces what follows fascinating insights and outlooks. The interior melts together with the outside space. The terrain flows through the building and finds his renewal in the pool- and meadow area. Because of a refined external design and the arrangement of the pool, lawn, garden and house the whole concept seems like a unity with seamless transition.

whose design was inspired by the image of traditional haystacks. Three of them house the suites, while the fourth is a common space.

also on the philosophical border dividing those who believe nothing should change and those willing to experiment with solutions to face the current climate crisis.

application
Finally we also produce a high-quality building regulations application, this will help you speed up the planning process and can even help you cut costs.

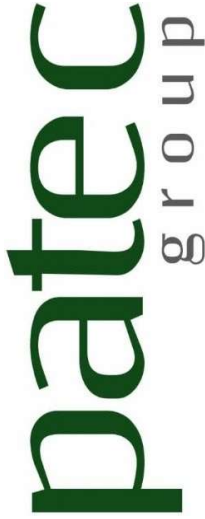

Innovative Technology

Central to our success is our team of architects, designers, and project managers, each bringing a wealth of experience and a passion for pushing the boundaries of architectural innovation. Our experts are not just professionals; they are visionaries dedicated to transforming spaces into living, breathing works of art.

Proven track record

Our portfolio speaks volumes about our proficiency. We have successfully delivered a diverse range of projects, each a testament to our dedication to excellence. From residential masterpieces to commercial landmarks, our projects stand as enduring symbols of quality craftsmanship and innovative design.

Providing quality IT system, solution and security to businesses

